Description

BIM ARCH d.o.o. is an architectural studio specialized in all architectural design phases. The company has managed to build an excellent team of experts and associates in the fields of architecture, construction, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, with the goal of preparing and developing project data for all design stages. The focus of the company, besides architectural design, is the implementation of modern technologies in the processes and phases of architectural design. We offer 3D modeling based on BIM (building information modeling), 3D visualization with premium quality, digitization of analogue project data, 3D photogrammetric and laser scanning of existing buildings, BIM modeling and 3D modeling of existing buildings. The company's orientation for buildup of information models in architecture brings digitalization in all phases of projects and existing facilities and existing project documentation. Our main goal is creating global saving for client especially in time. With BIM implemented, it is possible to achieve significant savings in building management. We are able to design models and digitize architectural project data in different design level all depending on client's needs (LOD 100, 200, 300, 350, 400, 500). As for software, BIM modeling is being prepared with the same intensity in two software solutions, Revit and Archicad. Both software allows you to enter all information about your architectural project data, whether it's about construction phases or information about warranties or type of embedded equipment. All this information is later available for client in a few mouse clicks without the need to search through huge amount of analogue architectural documentation or classic two-dimensional projects. Later software solutions for basic viewing of created BIM data are free without the need for expensive software solutions based on CAD technology.
